

JERON SANDERS

Jeron Sanders, a Miami native, discovered his passion for the arts early in life. Growing up, he immersed himself in theater until his freshman year of high school, where he found a deep love for dance. His artistic journey began at Southwood Middle School Center for the Arts, followed by his studies at New World School of the Arts, where he initially focused on theater. After transitioning to the dance department, he honed his skills in Ballet, Modern, and Jazz. Jeron also expanded his repertoire at Stars Dance Studio, mastering Contemporary, Jazz Funk, Hip Hop, and Ballroom, and furthering his ballet education at Armour Dance Theatre.

Jeron's collegiate journey led him to Point Park University in Pittsburgh, where he performed works by many renowned choreographers; Martha Graham, Crystal Frazier, Martha Nichols, Edward Liang, Kiki Lucas, and more. He graduated in April 2021 with a BFA in Dance, concentrating on Modern dance, and a minor in Business Management.

In the fall of 2021, Jeron joined Dallas Black Dance Theatre:Encore! He was confident that this would be the start to a fruitful dance career. During his time in the company, he performed works by Nycole Ray, Richard Freeman, Edmond Giles, Levi Marsman, Darian Loman & Madison Olandt, and many more. Following his season with DBDT:Encore! Jeron joined RWS Global's Step One Dance Company based in New York City. There he performed four shows: Humanity, Musicology, In Tandem, and Off The Charts on Holland America Cruise Line. He traveled to many destinations including, the Caribbean, South America, Alaska, Canada, Iceland, Greenland, and more. Recently, Jeron was a part of the Florida Grand Opera's production of the Magic Flute as an ensemble dancer. He is taking pride in educating the youth in his community while traveling with competitions and conventions. Anticipating a return to the stage in 2025, Jeron remains dedicated to his artistic journey and the enrichment of those around him.
