

FAITH BLACK

Growing up in Connecticut, Faith Black trained competitively across a wide range of dance styles, developing a dynamic and versatile foundation. Her performance credits include appearances in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, as well as performances at Disney World and Universal Studios. Faith has also been featured in multiple music videos alongside artists such as Chris Porter and Marz.

Known for her strength, precision, and musicality, Faith has carved out a distinctive niche as a female popper in the dance community. As a choreographer, her work has earned numerous awards for Technical Excellence, Outstanding Choreography, and Overall Entertainment. She is a sought-after guest instructor, teaching on the convention circuit and leading studio intensives all over.

Above all, Faith is deeply passionate about inspiring young dancers-encouraging them to push their limits, embrace their individuality, and become the very best versions of themselves both on and off the stage.
