

MARY MARRONE

Mary Marrone, growing up in her mother's dance studio, has been dancing since the age of 2. She has performed in Disney World, Universal Studios and has been a print work dance model for most of her life. Mary's passion for the past 2 decades has been choreographing, instructing, and adjudicating in the art of dance. She has owned her own dance studio for over 23 years and travels the east coast teaching and choreographing. Her choreography includes, Into the Woods, Anything Goes, Cinderella, Wizard of Oz and Grease. Many of her dancers can now be seen on Broadway, professional sports dance teams, dance companies, touring with dance conventions, commercials, music videos, T.V. and movies. Alumni of Southern CT State University School of Psychology and Education, she is also on the roster of judges with Impact Dance Adjudicators and has trained in numerous forms of dance, ballroom, singing and baton. Among all her dance achievements, she is most proud of the work she does with our veterans. She has performed throughout the country not only entertaining our military but also raising funds. Using her love of dance to teach our younger generations to spread gratitude to our brave men and women.
